

Happy Holidays

It is that time of year where we would like to extend our sincere gratitude to all our stakeholders for their continued commitment, and investment in The Insurance Crime Bureau.

Building on the successes of 2018, we will now be focusing on Horison 2 of our Strategy - looking at utilisation of our data assets, designing world class reporting, becoming better equipped in terms of technology as well as studying the emerging risk of cybercrime. These objectives are all designed around cementing our existing position as a “crucial part of the eco system” while remaining the “credible go to solution” in terms of insurance related crimes.

We are confident that as we continue to expand our offerings, and implement projects such as the On-Line Investigation Enquiries, the Vehicle Salvage Data Base and “LPR 4 SA” (Automatic Number Plate Recognition) as well as other industry data sharing initiatives, we will be able to further improve our return to all our Members as well as of course support the Government & SAPS in their law enforcement roles.

Networking forums such as our The Insurance Crime Bureau Annual Conference on the 6th & 7th of March 2019, will play a crucial role in not only introducing new solutions and technologies, but also serve to bring diversified law enforcement colleagues together to share intelligence within their respective sectors.

2019 will be focused on creating “Intelligent Partnerships” with like-minded entities in the broader financial services sector, both locally and internationally, with the ultimate goal of reducing the impact of crime in South Africa.

We wish you all a Happy Festive Season! Please stay safe and we are looking forward to a fruitful, exciting & expansive 2019, as together we can make a difference.

Garth de Klerk
The Insurance Crime Bureau - CEO